History

Emanuel Haldeman-Julius (1888-1951) moved to Girard, Kansas in 1915 to begin writing for Appeal to Reason, a leading socialist newspaper published there from 1900-1922. In 1919 he purchased a partnership with Louis Kopelin in the newspaper and its printing facility with money borrowed from his wife Marcet Haldeman. For his first printing project he selected fifty classic and socialist works that he offered to subscribers of Appeal to Reason for $5.00. The stapled paperback books measured 3 ½” x 5” and ranged from 32 to 126 pages. The popular response encouraged him to print more titles. In 1923 he named the series Little Blue Books after the cover paper color. Haldeman-Julius felt there was no subject too controversial to be in print. Customers could order titles from mail order catalogs or visit one of the outlet stores. The books sold for 10 cents each, but as demand increased the price was lowered to 5 cents.

Provenance

The Haldeman-Julius Company printed these pocket size books in Giraud, Kansas. The titles listed here are in two collections, one donated by retired University Library Dean Norman Tanis in the 1970s and the other by Mr. Jack Botwin, a former salesman for Haldeman-Julius, in 1990.

Scope and Contents notes

The Little Blue Books are part of the Library’s Haldeman-Julius Collection of publications that include Big Blue Books, books from Mr. Haldeman-Julius’ personal library, a printing plate, and canceled business checks. The publications are arranged by number from 1 to 1914. Gaps in the numbering usually indicate missing titles. Some numbers were never used such as 1832-1842 and some numbers were used more than once for different titles. Many of the titles in this collection show evidence that the copyright date was scratched off the printing plate indicating it is a later re-issue. Multiple copies of the same number in the collection may have different titles or are distinguished by a cover illustration or different cover stock. The listing here combines the holdings in both the Tanis and Botwin Collections with titles unique to the Tanis Collection identified. The Leonard H. Axe Library at Pittsburgh State University in Kansas has a complete check list of the publications (http://library.pittstate.edu/spcoll/ndxhjulius.html). The website Haldeman-Julius : Pocket Series and the Little Blue Books (http://www.haldeman-julius.org/) provides extensive coverage of the Little Blue Books publishing phenomena and links to other collections.

Organization
Series I are the unbound issues as described in the scope and contents note. Series II is an incomplete, but bound set. The Little Blue Books are gathered and bound out of numerical sequence, probably as a personal set for the publisher. Each binding has a number written on the spine (some numbers are missing). There are two other finding guides for the Big Blue books and Publishing Records. Books are listed in the online catalog under the Emanuel Haldeman-Julius Book Collection.
