

Database Icons: what do they mean?

Magnifying Glass: Allows you to view the abstract of an article by simply moving the cursor or mouse over the icon.

Add to folder: Allows you to import records. From the folder you can then print, email, or save.

Note: Adding records does not guarantee full text access. If no full text is available, save the publication information. This information can be used later when filling out an Interlibrary Loan request form.

Find Text: Selecting or clicking on the Find Text icon will display the library ownership of the desired article.

Note: If access to the full text is not indicated, you will need to request the document via Interlibrary Loan.

PDF Full Text: Displays a scanned version of the original document.

HTML Full Text: Displays a typewritten form of the original document.

Full Text from ERIC: Displays educational documents (also known as ED).

Note: ERIC documents are not journal articles. They are writings in the area of education, such as: workshops, curriculum guides, and conference proceedings.
