(see also <http://library.csun.edu/afidgeon>)

What happened to the old search box on the homepage?

What if I want to search the library catalog directly?

What if I want to search individual databases?

How do I limit my search to a subject area?

How do I limit my OneSearch results to articles/books/ebooks/other formats?

I need a scholarly (peer-reviewed) article from the last 10 years. How do I find one?

I found the article I want. How do I access it?

I found the book I want. How do I get it?

Where is the Map it! feature?

What does ONLINE/Electronic Book mean?

What does it mean when it says Stored?

How can I save items I want to look at later?

What happened to the old search box on the homepage?

The Oviatt Library website has been given a new look and made more efficient for your research needs. The biggest and most exciting change is our new OneSearch tool. Now, you can search for books, articles, videos, music, and almost everything else the library holds using one search box. OneSearch is connected to most of the Library's databases & the catalog and you can access content directly from your search results.

What if I want to search the Library catalog directly?

Not a problem! There is a link to our library catalog below the OneSearch Box.

What if I want to search individual databases?

You can still get into individual databases from the Library homepage, listed by subject and alphabetically.

How do I limit my search to a subject area?

In the search results, you'll notice option to limit by Topic and by Subject Area.

Use the Topic option to limit your search to certain topics, and Subject Area to limit your search by discipline.

Currently, there is no option to limit your search to a specific set of databases.

How do I limit my OneSearch results to articles/books/ebooks/other formats?

Your results in OneSearch will automatically put you in the Articles tab.

If you need further directions, see our "Find Text" FAQ page.

I found the book I want. How do I get it?

Below the title of the book, you will see the relevant information to get to the book (where it's located, the call number, and its availability).

If the book is in the library, it will say "IN LIBRARY". If it is checked out, you will see the date it is due. If it is otherwise unavailable, it will list the reason why (LOST, MISSING, etc).

If you want this information sent to your phone, click on the title and then on "Send location to your phone."

Where is the Map it! feature?

Map it! is not currently available in OneSearch. It is still available in the library catalog.

What does ONLINE/Electronic Book mean?

When you see Electronic Book or ONLINE in your results, that means the item you are looking at is an ebook. To access the ebook, click on either the "Text version", "PDF version", or "Connect to this Online Resource" link

OneSearch	Catalog
General search- "abortion"	Title search- "Catcher in the Rye" 7 in catalog; 13 in OneSearch
Keywords	Call numbers
"I'm doing research on x topic"	"I'm looking for my textbook" (title search for Biology—41 in catalog, over 8K in OneSearch)
GE/intro class (because this is what they're going to use)	If you need a little more control over the search to use)
AND/OR (NOT doesn't work in Books & Media)	AND/OR/NOT
Limit by Format- "bob Dylan" or "Dylan, bob", then Sound Recordings (link is more obvious- subtle, but ok)
Subject Headings -- heading terms only in initial results, but you can browse narrower terms through the records.	Browsing Subject Headings and narrower subject terms- searching for "lesbianism" allows you to see that subject heading as well as "lesbianism—21st century", "lesbianism—Australia", etc
Searching a particular decade (articles allows for a custom date range, but books & media does not)	Searching a custom date range (for books/media)
Archives/SC: if you know the name of collection	Generally searching for archives/SC (no Archon/ only MARC records)
Searching for a particular article/from a citation (don't have to look up journal first)
